

PHD COURSE IN MUSIC THERAPY RESEARCH

Denmark, Aalborg University
November 13–20 2021

CONTENT OF THE COURSE

The aim of the course is to train doctoral researchers with advanced theoretical, technical, and applied clinical research knowledge in fields related to music therapy. The course will include a rich mixture of course work and cover topics related to methodology, epistemology and theory of science with working methods consisting of workshops, round table discussions, lectures, and presentations of research in progress.

For more information: www.mt-phd.aau.dk/forms-guidelines/phd-course/.

Teaching at the course will be undertaken by Prof. Dr. Hanne Mette Ridder and Assoc. Prof. Dr. Stine Lindahl Jacobsen, by invited speakers as well as by team members from Aalborg University. The full programme and time schedule will be announced at www.mt-phd.aau.dk. Credits: 5 ECTS.

PARTICIPANTS

Participants at the course are Aalborg PhD students, external PhD students as well as clinicians who are considering setting up at research study related to music therapy research.

VENUE

The course takes place in the centre of Aalborg in Musikkens Hus: www.musikkenshus.dk

PLEASE BE AWARE OF THE FOLLOWING DEADLINES

September 1: Registration for the course (with mail to Hanne Mette Ridder)

October 13: Working TITLE of your presentation (mail to HMR)

November 1: ONE-PAGE-SUMMARY (mail to HMR)

FEE and REGISTRATION

For registration, please contact HMR (Hanne Mette Ridder, hanne@hum.aau.dk). The fee for participation is 4,000 DKK and covers participation, course material, lunch, tea/coffee and social/cultural events (For internal PhD students the fee is 2,000 DKK). Accommodation is not included and is arranged by the students themselves (see www.visitaalborg.com).

